KAR Energy Software PREMIUM is a power saving solution which will reduce your power consumption until 48% in 4 different ways: · By reducing the consumption of RAM · CPU cooling (electronic) · By reducing the frequency of the processor (has nothing to do with the CPU cooling) · By putting the computer into standby (still putting the PC to sleep when a program prevents it) KAR Energy Software PREMIUM not only optimizes your performance but also drastically reduces your power consumption. How it works? The program uses hidden subroutines, which are only activated when the computer starts or after inactivity. Every time when the program is activated it first waits for three seconds for any program, which has the lock of the processor, to finish. If no program is found, the program starts to work. The subroutines then reduces your computer performance by:

- By reducing the consumption of RAM
- By reducing the frequency of the processor (has nothing to do with the CPU cooling)
- By putting the computer into standby (still putting the PC to sleep when a program prevents it)

The following information is displayed in the main window of KAR Energy Software PREMIUM: - Number of cores - Clock frequency - Total memory consumption - Estimation of time until 48% - Efficiency - Estimated money gain - Estimated power consumption without the software

For all of your security and safety, KAR Energy Software PREMIUM has the following security features: - Protects your computer from any malicious

KEYMACRO is the best MACRO (Algorithm) analyzer software around. It lets you view any suspicious activity happening in your memory.

Key Macro provides a safe, out of the box solution for software developers and security experts to detect application and OS exploits.
Simple to use, the default settings are optimized for typical Mac and Windows systems. Our custom settings for Linux machines are compatible with most popular Linux distributions. KEYMACRO works by quickly searching your memory for data that could indicate unauthorized software. In most cases it finds malicious code, but it can also find legitimate code that is part of your operating system. KEYMACRO includes a number of tools for detecting suspicious activity in your memory, such as:

- * A quick search for suspicious data
- * A search for useful information, such as data indicating the operating system or application
- * Detect changes and deletions of files or data that are not frequently removed
- * A search for hardware info
- * A search for passwords
- * Detect changes and deletions of files or data that are not frequently removed

You can search for a specific file or find data that matches a specific pattern. Your computer will not be harmed in any way.

Special bonuses: The script always run at startup, as a SystemMonitor. The script can be started manually by the user and keeps a log of all actions it performs. This can be very helpful when you find a program is behaving suspiciously.
