Excellent features, quick responses and plus best in app support. " Jenny "Works great on the PC and mac, plus I've never had to contact support"GUJARATI, INDIA. There are more dengue cases here in the year 2015, compared to the previous year. A report prepared by the All India Drug Action Center, the research arm of the government, says, dengue prevalence has seen a rise in 30-45 per cent of the states. A report published by the Center says, over 725,000 children under 15 have been infected with dengue in 2015. Doctors say that the number of cases has increased due to better diagnosis and better reporting. Most of the patients come from the weaker section of society. The government should declare a State Health Emergency in all the States hit by the outbreak. The government has launched a Mega Campaign against Dengue which includes provision of free insecticide-impregnated bed nets and awareness programs. The campaign is being conducted under the "Man ki Baat" (Talk of the Nation) initiative. It was launched on the 26th of March, 2015. Informing the people about the power of insecticide-impregnated bed nets. It was revealed that 40 per cent of all dengue cases in the year 2005 could have been averted by the use of insecticide-impregnated bed nets. If there is one infestation that could change the epidemiology of dengue, it is surely the mosquito. Another report has been published by the Government to promote the use of the insecticide impregnated bed nets. The Anti-Dengue Mega Campaign has been conducted in the States of Assam, West Bengal e79caf774b
