Tap the screen to move, and rotate the camera. The map is made up of various levels. In each level, there are 20 different objects that you have to find. Each object has a certain design, which you have to match with the object using the indicator or slide bar at the bottom of the screen. When you click on the object, it freezes, and then the game play will start. Use the space bar to jump to the next level. You can also use the menu or space bar to pause or resume the game. Good luck and happy playing!

A: A slightly more simple version of this game is called Bow Wow. There are five stages. Stage 1 has five beans. Stage 2 has four... etc... The player is prompted to click on an empty space in the stage. If the player clicks on a bean or the space between two beans, the next stage will be revealed. If the player doesn't click in time, the player must start again at the end of the stage. If the player clicks on a bean or the space between two beans too many times, the next stage will be revealed as well as a penalty. When the player clicks on a space too many times, the game is over. If the player holds down the mouse wheel while clicking, the game will be sped up and the player will try to find the quickest route to clear the stage. You can play Bow Wow here.

A: If you like a pixel art style, you could try Hidden in Pasta! which is advertised as being "The fastest Hidden Object Puzzle game on the AppStore".

Sonority is a story-driven experience told in puzzle form. You play as a man named Tello, whose life has taken a dramatic turn, and he returns to his hometown to attend his father's funeral. During his visit, Tello is inspired to compose a song for his father to play. This song, as it turns out, changes everything, including him. The music you compose while playing will affect the entirety of the game. Endorsement: "In few words: beautiful soundtrack, imaginative game design and a very well-written narrative." The Music: The soundtrack plays a pivotal role in the story. It is a mixture of traditional orchestral music and synth-based electronic pop tracks. The game seamlessly transitions from a score that evokes an emotional tale to a soundscape that tells you what you should do next. This happens instantly at the perfect moment of every level. The video for the track "Remembering" can be viewed here:

arat metropolitan area. To say that the Geelong AFL club was hopping at the close of the VFL season in 1986 was an understatement. The club was on summer life support after being relegated to the Victorian Football Association in 1985. Momentum quickly developed, with fans getting behind Geelong's promotion bid led by CEO Rob Dare in late 1987 to return to the VFL. But there was not a snowball's chance in summer hell of that occurring. Geelong (16) lost to Hawthorn (23) in a horror final, with the Hawks' captain Steve Simpkins copping accolades for his 17-possession, epic second-quarter. There was also a case for South Melbourne captain Phil Carman being named the competition's best player. By mid-March, the AFL had announced that the inaugural VFL/AFL season would start in September, with Geelong getting preferential scheduling with its first games in the October pre-season, before its traditional clash with Collingwood, St Kilda and Carlton at the MCG on a Thursday night. The AFL also used the bye rounds to significantly assist Geelong, with it being preferentially schedule for the final. Geelong lost its opener at the MCG, before defeating North Melbourne and Hawthorn at Kardinia Park. Sam Bartlett (admittedly a CARL (not the KFC) football fan at the time) remembers Geelong's first league game since 1984 against Hawthorn at Kardinia Park on Sunday, September 8, 1987, as being attended by a crowd of 35,418 (at the 'Pit').. Check out the photo below for the five Geelong members of the 1991 AFL premiership team. The day was a long time coming for Ros Miller, who remembers watching the 1987 VFL 'final' from a window of the Kardinia Lodge. The Racecourse didn't open until late August, so Ros went to Kardinia Park to watch Gillon confirm the Tigers would make the grand final... Despite the big AFL crowd (many would travel to the game from the Torquay area), the crowd in the Racecourse was heading towards 7,000 (with another 500 in the grandstand). In the last forty years, the membership numbers at Kardinia Park have not been bad... Keep those posts coming! Ian Parker (@Eureka_AFL) is a member of the Hellfrost: The Lost City of Paraxis is a noble and dangerous quest that awakes heroic spirits in players. Or perhaps the heroes will be searching for gold, gems and other items of value in the exploration of the Lost City of Paraxus. The city of Paraxus lays 30 miles north of Cul or 70 miles west of Redmire. The image of the city is that of a dark, stormy night. The surrounding fields are known as unploughed land. This is an ideal adventure for new players or players that prefer a more very-low-action game or players who prefer the dark side of life. What do you get when you take the oddities of Humanity, throw in a little Magic, a bit of Mystery and a pinch of Sorrow?
