Because there was definitely a murder there. The place was crawling with police. A hundred uniforms were on the streets of Dungannon in the middle of the night. So someone - and I really want you to tell me this - someone in the Serious Fraud Office and the police were involved in that murder." Fergus cannot believe that the BT executives are stonewalling him. He says: "These people are clever. They're not in it for the money. They're in it for the power." Well, yes they do represent you, because you're getting a salary! A salary that I pay for! If I wanted to, I could sue you for the amount of money you've cost me! You've cost me a lot of money! Oh yes, I have! Because you're ripping me off! You're a criminal, and you're a lot of criminals!" Fergus Murdoch takes a sip of his coffee. Then he puts his mug down and looks directly at the BT executives. "Okay," he says. "We're done here."Effects of water and detergent on the conformations of intestinal brush-border membrane proteolipid and epithelial cell plasma membrane. The effects of water and detergents on the secondary structure of the brush-border membrane protein, villin, were studied by two-dimensional 1H NMR. Villin extracted from the brush-border membrane of rabbit jejunum was dissociated in two ways, by dilution with a small amount of urea or by dilution with a large amount of 1-butanol. Both dissociation procedures caused a decrease in the intensity of the protein amide cross-peaks. The amide cross-peaks in the native peptide could be assigned to the alpha-helix, beta-strand, and random coil states, using a strategy based on selectively deuterated protein samples. In the absence of urea, the N-H and C-H resonances in the alpha-helix state were
