The FSU News quickly addressed this phenomenon by illustrating the motivation of college students to perform better after "a recent survey that showed upperclassmen are more likely to opt out of a class than freshman." In fact, according to the FSU News, "69% of upperclassmen said they didn't enjoy taking the class, compared to 44% of freshmen." And, "Only 44% of upperclassmen said they learned information that they needed to know (versus 79% of freshmen)." However, the FSU News makes no mention that upper
