Zebra Video Converter is an application for converting videos between AVI, MPEG, MOV and WMV formats. It offers you to perform batch conversion of videos in one or multiple output formats. To begin with, you need to import the video files you wish to convert via the file browser. Then, you will be able to select the output format, frame rate, scan type, color depth, video size and audio sample rate. The last option is available only if the input video is supported by the selected format and depends on the video source. After that, you can configure the video settings such as brightness, contrast, saturation, transition type and deinterlace. Audio settings include the sample rate, channel mode, volume level, mix mode and stereo or surround encoding.

Besides, you can decide whether to enable hooking and apply filters. Finally, you can preview the video and trim clips via the built-in player. Moreover, you can export both video and audio
