Photoshop users will enjoy sharpening the contrast, inking the text, creating effects, using filters, and using brushes. See Book II, Chapter 8 for information on these topics. * For basic information about exporting your images, see Book III, Chapter 11. * For more information about layers and clipping masks, see Book II, Chapter 9. * For information about shadows and highlights, see Book II, Chapter 8. * For more details on basic color information and how to select colors, see Book II, Chapter 5. The following sections provide some specific knowledge that will enable you to use Photoshop more efficiently. Basic editing skills Photoshop is a tool that enables you to edit pixels and colors, even in the most complex images. Photoshop uses a layer-based system, allowing you to add or subtract layers, change the transparency of layers, add other images or photos, and even create images from scratch.

Figure 1-1 shows the Layers palette. You can access the Layers palette by choosing Window⇒Layers from the main menu. Figure 1-1: Layers and the Layers palette. As you can see, you can add or subtract layers by clicking to drag them onto the Layers palette, moving them around, and resizing them.

You also can change the alpha (transparency) properties of the layers by going to the Layers palette and clicking on the layers you want to change. You can change the transparency by dragging a layer up and down on the Layers palette. For the best results, it's always a good idea to create a new, blank document (Image Size) and start from scratch with your project. You may find it easier to open your older images in a new document.

If you start with a blank document and have trouble inserting or moving layers, try using the Selection tool. You can use the Selection tool to click on any area of the image and drag it to the new document.

Here you can edit photos, design, or both. You can download single files from your Mac or upload multiple files (up to 2 GB) and apply or modify them. Adobe Photoshop Elements supports U.S., Pounds, Baht, French, Japanese, German, Swiss, Canadian (AmerCan), Australian, British and New Zealand (ANZ) currencies. You can apply and remove filters, adjust colors, adjust brightness, apply levels and customize curves. The Vertical Adjustment Tool (ADJUST dialog box) and Horizontal Adjustment Tool (ADJUST dialog box) allow you to drag the vertical and horizontal position of an image on the screen. The Healing Brush Tool automatically repairs selected image parts that are out of focus. Crop and Rotate tools can be used to re-size and move objects in an image. The Select/Inverse and Lasso tools can be used to select or inversely select an object in an image. Crop, Rotate, and Rectangular selection tools can be used to select or select and move an object in an image. The Sharpen, Unsharp Mask (USM), Smudge, Sponge, and Burn tools can be used to adjust the light and dark areas of an image. The Spot Healing Brush Tool uses local image processing to restore or repair a specific area of a photo. Some other editing tools, such as Free Transform, help to stretch an image proportionally. The Gradient Tool allows you to change the color and transparency of a continuous area of an image. The Blur, Dodge, and Burn tools can be used to change the overall opacity of an image. The Levels dialog box allows you to adjust the color and brightness values of an image. The Gaussian Blur can be used to blur an image. The Adjust Color/Levels buttons can be used to adjust the appearance of an image. You can remove red eye and correct exposure. While using the Photo Selection Tool, if you select any part of the subject,

The problem with this query is that it will try to retrieve the first

MAX(id) value with each SQL statement (and by default the

MAX(id) value may be different for each SQL statement). To fix

this, it has to be replaced with an

INNER JOIN like this: SELECT

* FROM threads INNER JOIN

(SELECT MAX(id) max_id

FROM threads) max_tbl WHERE id IN (SELECT MAX(id) FROM threads) UNION SELECT *

FROM threads WHERE id= 1;

Now, if the subquery is empty (or MAX(id) is NULL), it will retrieve all threads.

A customer service agent who arrives late to work is costing the company an average of £500 a year, a research shows. The report, by staffing solutions firm Blue Cub, said the average worker is costing companies £18 an hour, equating to a £542 annual hit for a single office. The study also found staff are costing the equivalent of a £33 hourly rate to recruit and train them. Since staff are harder to find, customers are feeling the impact as employee attitudes to work suffer and workers feel under pressure to work longer hours, the report found. "This study shows a steady rise in the amount of money it is costing companies to employ staff," said Blue Cub research manager Jon Catt. "It's also telling us that the cost of employing staff is increasing dramatically in comparison to wages." Blue Cub also found the smallest companies were being hit the hardest. The average annual loss was £114, while the top quintile of companies was losing £2,300. It found that the average hourly rate of pay at each company was £8.45, while the average employee was spending £2.45 an hour on the job. Team Stats Shots (on goal) Saves Fouls Penalties Postgame Notes

BETHPAGE, N.Y. – Sophomore forward Brian Tindall tallied a career-high four goals to lead the Red Storm (3-4) to a 7-3 victory over rival Mamaroneck High School (0-2) on Tuesday night at the Blue Hole Complex. The Red Storm trailed early on as MHS took advantage of its opportunities during the first quarter, outshooting the Red Storm 8-0. The Red Storm would answer back to tie the game up 1-1 as sophomore midfielder John Gherli shot in his second goal of the season. The Red Storm wouldn't let the lead get away as junior midfielder Jeremy Knaub tallied on a header in the second half to even up the game at 2-2. However, the Red Storm would not let the lead get away as Tindall netted a goal from 10 yards out in the 56th minute to give Bethpage its biggest lead of the night. Tindall would tally the Red Storm's final goal of the
