ParechaDetermination of the total pressure within a sump system is important in many applications and industries. The most common method of pressure determination is using a Bourdon gauge (or Bourdon tube) to measure the pressure change that occurs as a byproduct of flow within a given area. A Bourdon gauge is typically formed from an outer tube with a diaphragm located within the tube. The diaphragm is capable of deflecting as a pressure differential is applied to the diaphragm as a result of a pressure change within the surrounding area. An indicator is often provided to indicate the deflection of the diaphragm. Budapest Budapest Thanks to its position on the banks of the River Danube and its history as the capital city of the kingdom of Hungary, much of Budapest has a distinctly Eastern European feel. It is a blend of the Roman and Turkish eras, which are still reflected in its architecture. Pest is the original Buda of Hungary, and the focus of the city, and the ruins of the medieval city of Pest sit directly across the Danube.

These include the Chain Bridge and Szabadság (Liberty) Square, which is the centre of Pest, and the most traditional and well preserved area of the city.

It is possible to walk between the two centres, and to cross the bridge to Buda. Széll Kálmán tér is a crossroads, with a tramway station and a bus station.

This is a useful walk to make if you have some free time and like to get away from the noisy traffic of city life. It is well worth taking a bus tour of the city, which is a change from the air-conditioned comfort of a coach. You can get great views of the city on an old-fashioned open bus, and you'll probably hear a great deal of Hungarian history. Adult Contemporary, 1959, the chart-topping single by Harry Nilsson, was a wide-ranging seller for Chess, peaking at the No. 2 position on the Billboard Hot 100. It sold more than one million copies when it was released
