History The church is located outside the walls of the city, where the ruined castle walls of Castro Uphoff were still visible. While the castle was destroyed in 1353, a chapel within the walls survived and retained the name of San Damiano. The present church dates to 1406 and was once part of the nearby Benedictine monastery of Sant'Orsola. The monastery was run by the Order of the Confraternity of the Immaculate Conception. The church, constructed in c. 1421, underwent several refurbishments and expansions in the following centuries, including in 1635 when the church was retrenched and the facade was added. In 1844 the Confraternity moved to a building of their own. The church was refurbished in 1859 by Gaeo and exhibited triennial cycle of paintings. The church was classified as a Tuscan-style "faja" in 1941. The paintings are the work of Vincenzo Passarelli and his workshop. They depict events from the life of St. Damiano. The church also contains paintings by Vittorio Montagneri from the 17th and 19th century. The first painting in the church is by Sebastiano Conca.
