Prison Architect 2.7.0.2 MULTILANGUAGE Game DownloadQ: How to calculate the particle number in a box? How to calculate the particle number in a box? The calculation of particle number is said to be based on the particle number density, which is calculated as the magnitude of the gradient of the energy function -  $\hbar \omega_n$  divided by  $V$ . Do we have some nice way to calculate this particle number density? I have no idea how to evaluate this magnitude of gradient in the context of a quantum field theory. A: I suppose that we have a finite-temperature quantum field theory in a finite-size box and the vacuum state has a non-zero occupation number  $n$ , so that the free energy  $F$  is zero. The free energy in a finite-size box is  $F = -\frac{1}{\beta} \ln Z$  where  $Z$  is the partition function  $Z = \int \mathcal{D}\Phi e^{-S[\Phi]}$  (where the action  $S$  is really the Euclidean action, but the integral is over the time-continuum, so that the periodic boundary condition is automatically satisfied. See the end of my answer for a technical point.) So  $F=0$  is the equation for the equation of state, and we have  $\frac{\partial F}{\partial \beta} = -\frac{1}{\beta^2} \frac{\partial}{\partial$
